Pittsburgh Reds Nabbed By FBI, Bail Is $100,000

Makes Total Bag Of 46 Arrested In Commy Roundup

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Steve Nelson, Communist party chairman for western Pennsylvania, and five others were held in jail today, to bring the total number of alleged Red party leaders arrested since June to 46.

FBI headquarters in Washington announced the latest roundup Friday night.

Nelson was held in Moyamensing prison, Philadelphia, in $100,000 bail set by U. S. Commissioner Henry P. Carr.

Trained Revolutionary

The FBI said Nelson was trained as a professional revolutionary in the Lenin school in Moscow in 1931 and 1932. The House un-American activities committee has charged that Nelson organized a Communist cell at the University of California radiation laboratory during the war.

House probes declared he used the cell to obtain atomic secrets for Russia, but Nelson refused to answer questions when called before the committee.

Allied-Red Jets 'Dogfight', In Two Aerial Engagements

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 18.—(INS)—More than 100 Allied and Communist jet fighters tangled in the skies over Korea's MIG Alley in two separate air battles today. One enemy plane was probably destroyed and another damaged.

The first all-out dogfight since July 29 Saturday morning involved 25 U. S. Sabrejets and 30 Russian-type MIG-15s.

It was followed within a few hours by a 10-minute fight near the border town of Sinuiju, which ended with one enemy jet diving over the Yalu river in Manchuria, spouting flames.

Twenty-eight of the speedy Sabrejets and 24 MIGs took part in the afternoon dogfight.

Earlier one enemy jet was damaged in the first air battle, lasting five minutes, over Sonchon, south of the border.

Delayed reports from the 135-mile battlefield told of hand-to-hand combat Friday in a flareup in ground fighting on the east-central front above Yangju.

The Eighth Army said UN forces in a "limited objective" attack on a Communist hill position advanced to within 50 feet of the Reds in an 11-hour battle. Both sides employed hand grenades and machine gun fire in the fighting which died down in the afternoon to scattered exchanges of small arms fire.

Allied forces 1,000 yards to the east repelled an attack by three Communist platoons which started the previous evening.

Bronze Workers Insurance Paid Through Aug. 31

All present insurance coverage for employees of Johnson Bronze company now on strike will continue through Aug. 31, with the exception only of weekly accident and sickness benefits which ceased as of Aug. 15, it is announced by E. J. Flaherty, company secretary. It was also announced by Peter Costello, representative of the International Union of the United Auto Workers, CIO, that welfare and hospitalization plan and life insurance for employees will continue as usual during the strike period.

Payments for the premiums will be paid for by the union, Mr. Costello reports. At a conference scheduled for sometime today, Mr. Costello will consult with members of his executive board and the representative of the insurance company to set up a new plan of insurance.

No Change
Meanwhile, there is little change in the strike situation. Pickets continue on their 24-hour duty in front of the plant and no arrangements for future talks have been made.

Striking employees observed pay-day as usual Friday and were lined up quite a distance up the street waiting for their checks.

Pickets were treated to the best Friday evening, it is reported, when a television set was taken down to where they were on duty, enabling them to see the All-Star football game.

Hurricane Heads Towards Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 18.—(INS)—A dangerous tropical hurricane carrying winds up to 120 miles an hour headed toward the Grand Cayman Islands today, posing an ominous threat to Caribbean shipping.

The 5 a.m. (EST) advisory from the Miami weather station estimated the center of the storm to be about 150 miles southeast of the Grand Cayman Islands, moving in a west-northwesterly heading.

The howler passed by Jamaica during the night and at 5 a.m. was located about 100 miles west of the Caribbean Island—and about 600 miles south and west of Miami.

The early morning advisory is issued by the hurricane trackers said the storm is expected to continue moving west-northward at approximately 20 miles an hour toward the Grand Cayman Islands and the Yucatan channel which separates Cuba from the eastern extremity of Mexico.

Hurricane winds extend outward 50 miles and gales can be felt 100 miles from the center of the tropical disturbance. Extreme caution is advised for the Cayman Islands and all other interests in the north-western Caribbean.

Two More Years Estimated Life For Sister Kenny

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny, famed Australian nurse whose theories revolutionized the treatment of infantile paralysis, estimated today that she has perhaps two more years to live.

The celebrated nurse, now 65 years old, is suffering from Parkinson's disease, an affliction of the nervous system which becomes progressively worse and ends in death.

Sister Kenny, showing no concern over the matter, discussed her case in detail following her arrival from Australia on what she describes as her last trip to the United States.

She disclosed that she is losing the use of her right arm and right leg and that there is "plenty of pain," which is almost constant. Her right arm noticeably has the tremors characteristic of the disease.

Sister Kenny said she contracted the nervous condition when she overexerted herself during the Minneapolis polio epidemic of 1946.

She became aware of the nature of her ailment in 1947 and a European specialist confirmed the diagnosis in 1949.

She said: "The specialist said that my ailment (Continued on Page Two)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Two former U. Meanwhile, a young Italian underground beauty was brought into the case by the dead man's brother, who called the crime a "political murder". He said the girl fled to Switzerland in fear the communists would execute her for "knowing too much" about the slaying.

DiSalle Faces Double Burden Stabilizing Job

Price And Wages Chief Concern Of National Executive

By FREEMAN FULBRIGHT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The double burden of stabilizing both prices and wages was placed today on the meaty shoulders of Price Chief DiSalle through approval of new government policy linking wages to the cost-of-living.

The Wage Stabilization board policy, approved by Economic Stabilization Johnston, says raises for hourly workers should keep pace with living costs.

The cost-of-living is determined by prices.

Need Adjustments
Prices are DiSalle's official job but WSB Chairman George W. Taylor said:

"If prices are stabilized, our new policy will have little effect. But if living costs rise, there will be upward adjustments in wages."

Johnston approved the policy, adopted by the board two weeks ago, as "an appropriate yardstick."

The economic stabilizer wrote the board:

"The policy allows wage adjustments for the wage earners of American—organized and unorganized (Continued on Page Two)

Saves Daughter Loses Own Life

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(INS)—A 65-year-old Brooklyn woman—her own clothes flaming—early today routed her daughter and son-in-law to safety in a tenement fire, then died before she herself could escape.

The woman who gave her life for others was identified as Mrs. Anne Klatzko. Her body was found in a hallway connecting her bedroom with that from which her kin escaped by ladder.

Deputy Fire Chief Daniel Deasy reported the two-alarm blaze apparently broke out about 12:15 a.m. on a staircase leading to the third floor in the three-story frame tenement.

Flames raced up and into Mrs. Klatzko's bedroom. Her nightclothes were set afire. She ran for the bedroom occupied by her daughter, Hilda, 48, and son-in-law, Max Schwartz, 51, screaming for them to flee.

Firemen were arriving on the scene and quickly raised a ladder to the bedroom window. The Schwartzs were helped down, but Mrs. Klatzko was dead when reached.

Session On Sunday Will Try To Break Cease-Fire Jam

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

UN BASE NEAR KAESONG, Aug. 18.—The chief United Nations delegate to the Korea truce conference warned tonight that, despite signs of a possible agreement on the buffer zone issue, the Allies must remain vigilant on the battlefields.

Vice Adm. Charles Turner Joy, speaking to newsmen at the UN base below Kaesong after a second-round subcommittee session on the armistice line deadlock, declared:

"We must keep our military guard up until a final settlement of the Korean problem seems assured."

Fighting Renewed

The admiral's remarks came several hours after a renewed flareup of aerial fighting in which more than 100 Allied and Communist jet planes engaged in two battles over northwest Korea.

Joy's statement followed a second "off the cuff" Kaesong meeting of a four-man joint Allied-Communist committee in an atmosphere of "friendly" discussion. A third session was set for Sunday in the effort to end the stalemate over where to draw a cease-fire line.

The head of the five-man UN delegation, now awaiting the results of the subcommittee's work before resuming full-dress truce talks, analyzed the current military situation for the newsmen.

The situation, he said, warrants his contention that an armistice "will be of greater military advantage to the enemy than it will be to us."

He explained that an armistice would relieve Communist North Korea of the weight of Allied air and naval bombardment, thus permitting it to concentrate on the (Continued on Page Two)

Quiz Teen Agers After Dope Raid

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(INS)—A group of 15 girls and boys, 17 to 23 years old, and a reputed peddler were questioned by Rockaway Beach police early today about a series of alleged drug parties.

They were seized in raids last night at a basement room in a three-story Rockaway Beach building after several weeks of observation by detectives.

An ambulance was called from Rockaway Beach hospital when the alleged "pusher" claimed he could not talk unless he had "a shot" of dope. He was identified by police as George Condules, 23, of Brooklyn.

He was held and police said he would be booked on dope charges. The raiding party seized approximately 200 tablets of morphine, in one-quarter and one-half grains; six spoons used as "cookers"; 15 hypodermic needles; a syringe; seven eye droppers and one-half pound of marijuana.

Police said neighbors had complained (Continued on Page Two)

Birthday is always important, no matter how many or few, and whether you're seven or eighty-five, the birthday is always new. But some there are most important and the most important I've seen is when a young lady arrives at the point where she can say she's fourteen. It's different somehow, vastly different, she isn't a tot any more, but a glamorous gal who is almost grown up, yes fourteen is the glamorous score. And tomorrow we mark the occasion, she's fourteen and this I must say, her pictorial days are behind her, it's bright, seventy-two today.

According to a police report, Matson forced a car driven by Ralph McCormick, Northview avenue, against a curb.

mitting the Reds to build up their forces.

Joy reiterated the UN command's rejection of Parallel 38 as the basis for a buffer zone, saying:

"It would definitely be foolhardy and perhaps disastrous for either the UN or Communist command to expose his forces along a political demarcation line rather than to place them in a sound, militarily defensible position where they can protect themselves in the unfortunate event that hostilities should be resumed (after an armistice is concluded)."

The admiral, who commands American Far Eastern naval forces, cited international law defining an armistice as a "temporary suspension of hostilities." He added:

"It just as specifically points out that hostilities may be resumed by either side if proper prior notification is given."

He restated the UN's objective at the Kaesong talks as being "a military armistice based on military realities." Joy continued:

"The United Nations command today is already at peak efficiency, well organized in combat formation and well supplied with all of the weapons of war."

The top UN delegate concluded that the admiral's statement "must retain defensive positions" and "keep our military guard up."

Meanwhile, prospects of success for the question of where to locate a buffer zone across Korea seemed brighter as the subcommittee at Kaesong scheduled a third meeting for 11 o'clock Sunday morning (9 p.m. Saturday EDT).

Another paragraph in the letter hinted that cost-of-living wage increases are all that Johnston wants allowed in the future.

He wrote: "I expect the board to adhere both to the spirit and the letter of the cost-of-living principle in its decision under the resolution. We all know that wage increases are reflected in price increases, and that price increases lead to wage increases."

"Rigorous enforcement of the program is essential to prevent the cost-of-living from skyrocketing to new heights."

The Italian girl's connection with the story was described by New York stockbroker Joseph V. Holohan, who has spent years trying to track down his brother's slayers.

Holohan identified the girl as Mariana Duelli. He said she had to flee Italy when her pleas for protection to the Italian government and, he added, "to the American military government in Milan" were turned down.

The defense department reported that the Holohan murder was actually "solved" more than a year ago, but the army criminal investigation division left it dormant.

Then, the department said, defense information chief Clayton Fritchey learned about the case.

Eight Republicans, with two other GOP members in partial agreement, promptly filed a 100-page report documenting their views, but withholding its release until Monday morning.

Chairman Russell (D) Ga. said he was uncertain whether he would record his own conclusions but said he thought the hearings had created a better understanding of the Korean war and had achieved some changes in far eastern policy.

Views Carry Weight

Taft is not a member of the 26-man joint committee but his views on the Korean situation carry weight through his chairmanship of the GOP policy committee.

He said: "If the Kaesong talks fail, we'll adopt Gen. MacArthur's views. We can't do anything else, and we have adopted some of them already."

We've got to drive the communists out of North Korea if the truce talks fail."

Smith called MacArthur's discharge "one of the most disgraceful chapters in American history."

He added: "If the Kaesong talks fail we'll be in for a tough war in Korea. General MacArthur's recommendations will be implemented."

Let Matter Drop

Democrats generally were willing to let the MacArthur inquiry drop without further debate. Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., announced that he would file a report of his own, but appeared to be the only Democrat with any such definite plans.

Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark., one of the sharpest critics of the MacArthur policy during the hearings, said he was not "too busy" with other things to say more.

group wound up its work by agreeing to make no formal report but to let individual members file their conclusions before Sept. 1, for printing in the appendix of the voluminous record.

Eight Republicans, with two other GOP members in partial agreement, promptly filed a 100-page report documenting their views, but withholding its release until Monday morning.

Chairman Russell (D) Ga. said he was uncertain whether he would record his own conclusions but said he thought the hearings had created a better understanding of the Korean war and had achieved some changes in far eastern policy.

Views Carry Weight

Taft is not a member of the 26-man joint committee but his views on the Korean situation carry weight through his chairmanship of the GOP policy committee.

He said: "If the Kaesong talks fail, we'll adopt Gen. MacArthur's views. We can't do anything else, and we have adopted some of them already."

We've got to drive the communists out of North Korea if the truce talks fail."

Smith called MacArthur's discharge "one of the most disgraceful chapters in American history."

He added: "If the Kaesong talks fail we'll be in for a tough war in Korea. General MacArthur's recommendations will be implemented."

Let Matter Drop

Democrats generally were willing to let the MacArthur inquiry drop without further debate. Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., announced that he would file a report of his own, but appeared to be the only Democrat with any such definite plans.

Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark., one of the sharpest critics of the MacArthur policy during the hearings, said he was not "too busy" with other things to say more.

Reds Must Be Confused

The Russians, who regularly confuse many western governments, must be confused themselves today.

The U. S. state department in a careful statement has indicated that Gen. Douglas MacArthur, dismissed U. S. supreme commander in the far east, may appear at the Japanese peace treaty conference opening in San Francisco Sept. 4.

President Truman, arch foe of MacArthur on far eastern policy in general and the Korean campaign particularly, adds under questioning: No, he has no objection to MacArthur addressing the conference.

No Block

President Truman also says he is confident that neither Russia nor any other nation will be able to block the signing of a Japanese treaty to which Russia so virulently objects.

What could mystify the Kremlin leaders is obvious. Every word cabled to Moscow on the great MacArthur-Truman dispute over Korean and far eastern policy was studied intently by Kremlin leaders. And to all Americans there was no doubt of the bitterness of that dispute which still exists.

It was such a mass of words that many Americans today still are confused about their intent. Yet there emerged the conviction among many observers, and probably among the Russians, that if the Korean war is not stopped it will develop into World War III.

This conviction may or may not have been one of the reasons why Russia took the initiative for the present Korean cease-fire talks.

These talks have dragged, perhaps by Russian design. They have been followed by the Moscow decision to participate at San Francisco—which spells trouble as part of the so-called Soviet "peace campaign."

Must Be Confined

Now, Moscow must be confused because of the announcement that President Truman and MacArthur, no matter what their policy differences, can possibly unite in the interests of the United States and a possible new far eastern ally, Japan.

It always has been debated whether the Russian leaders ever did understand the western government.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FUTILE TO SCOLD CHILD

"You didn't go to sleep at nap-time. That's the reason you're such a baby," the vexed mother said to her son, three, after he had been crying and whining repeatedly at the slightest provocation.

"No wonder you don't eat your dinner, after having all that nap and ice cream," said the father at the girl, six, and her brother, four dawkled over their meals.

Accusing Remarks

Both parents whined these words. What they said was true enough, but the accusing remarks didn't make the three-year-old any better natured or the sister and brother more eager for their food. Neither did the mother's remark render the three-year-old more ready to take a nap regularly thereafter, nor the other children more sure to avoid excessive sweets between meals later. What is more, the parent in each instance didn't suppose the scolding remark would do any good to the child concerned.

Then why was it made? The answer is, to give the scolding parent an emotional release. Present in each parent's experience was a mixture of forces. The mother was strongly aware of the value to the child of a regular nap. She felt a bit guilty for not having cultivated good nap habits in this youngster. Frustrated and vexed at the time of the youngster's frequent whining, she was seeking an unavailing escape from her responsibility, so she shifted the blame to the child and told him so. She announced to him and other adults present that she had a good plan for his guidance, anyway.

Emotional Conflicts

The other parent had a similar mixture of emotional conflicts and sought a similar method of escape. Each parent got the usual satisfaction from "I told you so."

At any time, on any day, any parent may be faced with many similar frustrations and vexations with a child, and be tempted to indulge in futile scolding and scolding words. Consider the times when a youngster is injured by accident or injures something or somebody. "If you had listened to what I told you it wouldn't have happened," or, "Just as I expected."

Problem At Hand

In the case of the fretful child who missed his nap, the mother should not have said a word, as you can see about the omitted nap. She should have done her utmost to win the youngster to better ways—to make the most of the problem at hand. Properly she might have entertained in silence the ideas that she had about the nap, and resolved to effect a better nap program thereafter.

Then, observing the two youngsters dawdling over their food, should have spoken not a word about their having sweets before the meals. He should have avoided urging these children to eat, but tried to make the meal-time as enjoyable for all the family as possible. My bulletin "Eating Problems" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this paper.

He might well have said to himself, "That problem of sweets his mother and I must work out better from now on."

Let us parents quit trying to push water back up over the dam.

ernmental system, whether the Kremlin leaders ever received factual or garbled intelligence about the west.

The state department announcement and Truman's comment about the Pacific war hero, MacArthur, is either a carefully calculated development or one of sheer luck.

No formal arrangements have been made for MacArthur to appear at San Francisco, but if he does it will add to the drama already foreshadowed by the Moscow announcement that Andrei (No. No. Gromyko will be on hand to fight for Soviet bloc interests.

Russia failed to get the Japanese treaty drafters into a big five council of foreign ministers (including Red China) where it could resort to the veto.

Springboard

There is speculation that Gromyko will either make a surprise offer of a far-eastern settlement to confuse and delay the San Francisco delegates, or use the conference as another minimum propaganda stand.

Gromyko is expected to play on Asiatic objections to the present Japanese draft by proposing that Japan keep the Ryukyus, including Okinawa, the site of American bases; Japan pay heavy war reparations, as demanded by the Philippines and others, and Red China be allowed to sign the treaty. The latter demand is supported by Burma, India, Pakistan and Indonesia.

Washington reports have hinted that Secretary of State Acheson may have a few tricks up his sleeve for use against Gromyko.

It is possible that the appearance of MacArthur, whose advice was sought in drafting the treaty, is one of the American surprises.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

TO THE YOUNG

We're told we've failed by leaving you
So much to learn, so much to do
And yet our fathers thought that they
Had failed us in the self-same way.

They did their best for liberty,
Fought for a peace that couldn't be.
They tried to solve the problems all,
That none of them on us should fall.

Yet when a father leaves his son
With not one task that must be done,
No goal to reach, no loss to fear,
He robs him of his own career.

Youth, when the last of us has gone
And with our tasks you carry on,
Remember, for the right we stood,
In freedom's cause did all we could.

During your working hours, you talk to your fellow worker . . . at home you talk to the kids and the wife . . . maybe you even talk to your mother-in-law. In these talks . . . at work, at home, or on the way to and from work, you say what you please . . . sometimes you are pleased and sometimes you are not . . . but that makes little difference to you . . . you speak your say and someone either agrees or they disagree . . . You either laugh when you tell your story, or you really get burned up. But that all doesn't matter . . . BECAUSE you can do just what we have been talking about. Unless you are trying to tear down this government . . . you are not quieted.

How different some peoples in this world live today . . . Monday of last week we heard a gentleman speak at the Rotary Club . . . He was a man whom you could listen to for hours . . . and the tales he spun you knew were true, but rather disturbing to hear. Dr. Young was his name, and he had spent considerable time during the past fifteen years in China . . . And the reason he is back in the states today, his work can not be carried on in that land. He was in a mission hospital . . . and those who were left behind are now either under strict censorship or have met death . . . and even worse, a living death at the hands of restless people. Today in China you can't speak your mind . . . unless that mind is for a way of living that is entirely foreign to our way. Business men and workers who were thinkers such as we know . . . have been murdered wholesale . . . because they voiced their opinions.

We can't let such a thing happen here . . . It can happen here, but you and you and the rest of us who love FREEDOM can be on guard against too much "wrong" thinking. Once a nation loses its way of right . . . the road back is long and depressing. At our peoples, regardless where they live . . . are better off than 90 percent of peoples in other lands. Judge the stories about a new government . . . not by promises, but by action . . . No other government can give the action that our own U. S. A. government can and is giving. You know right from wrong . . . and from left . . . don't take the wrong turn.

'TAILS,' WE WIN—OR LOSE?

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Weighty Responsibility

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The men who must make decisions about the size and the balance of America's vastly expanding armed forces are under a continuing and well nigh backbreaking strain. In view of the complexity of the overall problem, their recommendations to Congress and to the national security council tend to be final and that has been particularly true as the threat of communist aggression has been accentuated.

As chief of naval operations, and thereby a member of the joint chiefs of staff, the late Admiral Forrest Sherman drove himself with a conscientiousness that casual observers failed to detect beneath his outwardly urbane manner. He allowed himself no relaxation.

Worked To Death

When he stepped off a plane returning to Washington from a week or 10 days in Korea or Europe, he went directly to his office in the Pentagon to start on the mass of papers that had accumulated in his absence. It is almost literally true that he worked himself to death.

Those who must in the next six weeks try to decide the balance for the coming three years between land, sea and air power deserve both understanding and sympathy. With the possibility of a dispute among the joint chiefs of staff over how much the Air Force is to be increased, a hint was passed on to deputy secretary of defense Robert Lovett that the issue might be put on his desk with the final decision left to him.

As stern and exacting as he is with himself and his associates in administering the huge rearmament effort, Lovett politely declined. That great responsibility belongs not to one civilian official but to the heads of the three services working as a team under the unification program.

Want No Row

Despite the drumbeating coming from partisan sources, General Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, is hopeful the issue can be settled without a public row. As chairman he has no vote, acting as moderator and persuader for harmony. Since the JCS prepare as many as 35 recommendations a week with unanimity, he would seem to be remarkably successful in this role.

But the decision on air power will be tougher than any taken thus far. Both in Congress and the Pentagon the figure of 163 groups for the Air Force is part of current discussion. To this would be added 40 groups for the Navy and the Marine Corps with an additional 10 carrier or transport groups for a total of 213.

While that figure is not to be taken too seriously, the hope is for agreement on an increase from the present 95 to perhaps 135.—The Navy and Marine groups making the total 175. This goal would, of course be projected for 1954.

The increase is considered logical in view of the fact that the Navy is now far and away the largest in the world and the Army is reaching a point at which in an emergency it could be expanded with great rapidity. The deficiency is in the air.

But this does not mean, as some alarmists and propagandists have it, that America has little or no air power in comparison to Russia.

Up To 95 Per Cent

The current 95-group program will be 90 per cent up to schedule in November, according to those directing it. It would be on schedule were it not that greater stress has been put on building facilities so more planes will come off the production lines at a later date. These facilities are astronomical in cost. A new plant about to be built to make the B-52 intercontinental jet bomber will cost $100,000,000—and that is before a single plane begins to move from the drawing boards to the assembly line.

No wonder, then, the men trying to shape these decisions are often oppressed by the fear of the consequences on our own lives here at home. There is always the possibility that Russian strength may have been miscalculated as to kind or overestimated. Overestimation is the documented conviction which Edward Crankshaw, British expert, expresses in his newest book, "Cracks In The Kremlin Wall." Believing there will be no large-scale war with the Soviet in the foreseeable future, Crankshaw voices a warning that touches on American armament drive and its effects here at home.

"I can think of only one way in which the Kremlin may still conquer us, and that without war. It is by so frightening us (but it is we who allow ourselves to be frightened) that for fear of the enemy within we transform our own society imperceptibly into an apparatus of totalitarianism indistinguishable from the society of Soviet Russia—a system which may not be criticized whether the British parliamentary system or the American way of life, for fear of damaging national unity, the unity of the grave; a system in which the bully and the corrupt may not be denounced or the underdog uplifted because nobody will dare risk being called a Red."

The necessity for steadily building this nation's armed strength may not be criticized to almost everyone. But if it is done to the accompaniment of a deliberately fomented hysteria and fear, with inflation eating like a cancer at the base of society, then any victory may be a hollow one indeed.

Now comes the latest "How" book.

I don't know whether it is going to do more good than any of the others.

But it's worth reading. It is called "The Psychologist Looks At Sex and Marriage" and is written by Dr. Allan Fromme, published by Prentice-Hall, and is for sale at all bookstores.

If there is a space in your bookcase for it, get it.

The book tells you how to get along with your wife, or your husband.

Say something nice about the meals she has cooked, the hat she has bought, the curtains she has made, or about any of the other numerous activities which occupy her daily existence.

By the same token, a man anticipates with equal pleasure his wife's approval of his business activities, his apparent understanding of politics, his behavior at the party.

The wife's beauty—for which, perhaps, he married her—is not enough to sustain the marriage. Dr. Fromme suggests that most women don't look as nice in the morning as they did in the moonlight during courtship.

On the other hand, the young

Tip, Tip, Tippy-Canoe

By PAUL GALLICO

This being the heart of the vacation season, as it were, I would like to be permitted a small dissertation on that great invention of the original American aborigine, the canoe, which type of craft allegedly plays a great part in our mid-summer romances and which leads me to the question that agitates me—how many more happy marriages would there have been if the guy had selected a rowboat instead of a canoe for that moonlight sail?

Pause with me for just one moment at the Encyclopaedia Britannica where it says, although the canoe is considered unsafe by persons unacquainted with its possibilities, its graceful appearance and the romance associated with it impart a glamour even to the uninitiated.

Sure Is

Yes, my friends, one and old, it is a glamorous craft and there is nothing quite as delightful to steal along the shore-line of some woodland lake and see the trees slip by as you glide silently along, but unless you are awfully darned good at managing one, the rowboat is hereby recommended if your companion is feminine and you've got woo on your mind.

I am an old canoe man myself, having learned the art as a boy in summer camp on the shores of good old Lake Something-or-Other, but this craft is as tricky and unreliable as a monkey; one never knows exactly what it will do next.

Certainly, my own life's pattern has been changed by the canoe, for it is axiomatic that a lady who is wringing wet through having been tipped overboard by the inclination of this cranky craft to roll over at the slightest provocation, is not quite as amiable or tolerant as one who is dry. With her foundation showing through her soaked and flimsy summer dress, with ten dollars worth of hair-do and beauty parlor allurements dripping mess, with her precious handbag resting in the ooze at the bottom of the lake and her general dignity and glamour seriously impaired, the little lady is apt to reveal certain facets of her disposition that could give a young man pause. Anyway, the one I dumped into Lake Placid at a tender but impressive age was madder than the proverbial wet hen and sounded much the same.

Ended Romance

How things would have worked out with this little daisy if we had gone sailing or sculling instead of canoeing is hard to say; the only thing which is definite is that the canoe ended a beautiful romance once and for all and I am just pointing out that it may do the same for you.

You may reply that Hiawatha didn't seem to have any trouble with Minnehaha on that score, but let me remind you that you ain't no Injun, brother, and you get yourself into a canoe in a high wind and some of your own he-man glamour is likely to start peeling off. If you can stand having the Fair One chortle at you, her beautiful orbs bright with laughter, "Oh Fred, you don't know how funny you looked with your face all red and your eyes sort of popping out of your head, your collar wilted and the sweat pouring from your face, as you went round and round in a circle and every time you got the bow of the canoe around, the wind caught it again until honestly I thought you were going to have apoplexy right then and there. . . ." then you are better human material than I am, and maybe it's safe for you to fool with a canoe.

I don't know where the Injuns made things up between themselves, I mean the young squaws and the bucks, but it wasn't in the old birch bark canoe, because the darned thing just isn't designed for that sort of conversation, and I'd like to know how the canoe got the reputation of being so doggoned romantic in the first place.

Up Front

If you want to maintain any kind of balance or seaway, you put the girl up in the front seat and yourself with paddle in the stern, and with a seventeen foot job, that's a good ten feet of space between you. And what's more, that's how you're going to remain for the entire trip. Any attempt on your part to bridge this gap or reduce the distance between you and your companion is going to be resented by the canoe.

It is possible to change places, or move about in a canoe, but not under the stress of emotion and a canoe may be said definitely to dislike the maneuvering and gestures that accompany speeches beginning, "Miss Tremayne—Grace. . . May I call you Grace?" You are ravishing. I love you passionately. I have always loved you. Oh, let me hold you close to my heart that beats only for you." Some of them—the canoes—are so frail that you need no more than take your eye off the horizon line and let it linger on Miss Tremayne, and you've had it. Over you go.

I'm just trying to be helpful and save you some trouble. On the other hand, if you WANT to see what happens, how she reacts when you overturn in three feet of water and shore mud and how she looks to you with a lily pad draped over one eye, don't let me stop you. The canoe's your craft, kid.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

On my bookshelf stands a whole collection of "How" books.

"How" books are supposed to be shortcuts to everything.

If you want to get rich—get a "How" book. "How" books tell you how to fix automobiles, how to do your gardening, how to cook, how to bring up children, how to build a house, how to become a writer, how to be happy, how to cure every possible type of disease.

Now comes the latest "How" book.

I don't know whether it is going to do more good than any of the others.

But it's worth reading. It is called "The Psychologist Looks At Sex and Marriage" and is written by Dr. Allan Fromme, published by Prentice-Hall, and is for sale at all bookstores.

If there is a space in your bookcase for it, get it.

The book tells you how to get along with your wife, or your husband.

Say something nice about the meals she has cooked, the hat she has bought, the curtains she has made, or about any of the other numerous activities which occupy her daily existence.

By the same token, a man anticipates with equal pleasure his wife's approval of his business activities, his apparent understanding of politics, his behavior at the party.

The wife's beauty—for which, perhaps, he married her—is not enough to sustain the marriage. Dr. Fromme suggests that most women don't look as nice in the morning as they did in the moonlight during courtship.

On the other hand, the young woman who has looked forward to cooking, washing, mending, as delightful labors may soon look upon a greasy pot in a hot kitchen with the same disgust which she felt before she fell in love.

Don't criticize your wife in a disrespectful manner. She'll resent it if you disparage her political opinions, or her inability to select a radio program for an evening's entertainment.

Likewise, women similarly deride their husbands for their extravagance over some gadget, or the color scheme of a room.

Don't nag your wife or your husband.

That will drive them "to blow off steam."

And blowing off steam will often lead to extra-marital affairs.

I shall not tell you what Dr. Fromme says about extra-marital affairs. That would be giving away the plot.

There is a lot of good, common sense in this book.

And that is about all that CAN be said about marriage.

Use common sense.

The best way to treat marriage—and you don't need any books for that—is to treat each other as if you weren't married at all.

Imagine that your husband is a houseguest. Imagine that your wife is a visitor.

The same courtesy, the same consideration, the same respect for each other's feelings and privacies will go a long way.

And always remember this: Marriage MUST be a handoff to which the prisoner has the key.

To Investigate Black Market Cattle Reports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Price stabilizer Di Salle on Friday announced immediate launching of a nationwide campaign to investigate reports of cattle black markets and to enforce price ceilings on beef animals.

DiSalle disclosed at the same time that the office of price stabilization is considering making the ceilings binding on sellers as well as buyers and applying the price lids to individual animals.

The price stabilizer said OPS has received "numerous complaints from packers that they were unable to purchase cattle at the ceiling price" since congress knocked out the agency's slaughtering quota authority.

The quota system allocated available livestock supplies to all registered slaughterers on the basis of the amount they killed last year.

The price chief said a "large part" of the OPS enforcement staff will be concentrated on enforcing cattle ceilings. The justice department will be asked to give priority to cases involving cattle and beef ceiling violations.

Denies Japanese Rearming Report

TOKYO, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Premier Shigeru Yoshida denied Friday he planned to rearm Japan "at the present time".

Yoshida parried questions of opposition spokesmen who futilely sought to draw him into a full dress parliamentary debate on the proposed Japanese peace treaty.

Democrat, socialist and communist questions in both houses of the Diet wanted to know more from Yoshida about the treaty's territorial, reparations and security provisions.

His replies followed a stock pattern. On the territorial issue, he said Japan's sovereignty had been limited to the four home islands and adjacent islets by the surrender terms. He declared this situation could not be altered.

The amount of reparations that Japan will have to pay victims of her aggression, the prime minister declared, will be subject to negotiations after the peace treaty is signed.

Soviet Delegation Are Issued Visas

Mr. McGiverty Discovers America Is A Grand Place

Our old friend Horatius Q. McGiverty (of the Spring Hill McGiverty's) is back from a month's automobile vacation trip. This morning he dropped by to pay his respects.

"Y'know" said he "tis a great country, this America. We drove for days and didn't use up all the country. Every hour the scenery changed and every day we found out what a fine bunch of citizens we have here.

"And another thing" said H. Q. McG., as he was leaving, it's amazing how many automobiles there are in the country. Y'know I think the automobile is here to stay." But it must be a job for you fellows keeping them all in repair."

Confidentially we don't keep them all in repair, just a lot of them in this district. We're proud of our customers but we still have room for more.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Over Their Heads

Children ask questions about practically everything. Often parents feel that what they are asking is over their heads. But what do we really mean by that?

Let's take a couple of eight-year-olds, each of whom has asked: "What's the United Nations?"

In family A, Dad says: "You wouldn't understand, Johnny. I'll tell you when you're older."

In family B, there's a different attitude. Both parents recognize that an eight-year-old can't be expected to have a thorough-going understanding of the intricacies of U. N. organization and objectives. But they believe he can understand some things. Perhaps they'll get hold of pictures of the headquarters. They'll tell a simple story of how countries are trying to work together to keep peace and to make life better for everybody. They'll use some simple examples.

Naturally, much of what they say will be forgotten. Sometimes, the child's interest is only a passing one. He won't want to be bothered with a lot of detail. But he gets something. It isn't all over his head.

Indeed, there are few things that are entirely over any child's head. It's our job as parents and teachers to try to help them move toward better understanding of the things in which they show interest.

Church Women Plan Project For November

Panel members of the New Castle United Council of Church Women have been busy planning for fall activities under the capable direction of Mrs. R. J. Williams, their president. "Live Thy Faith" has been chosen as the theme for the World Community Day service that will be conducted Friday, Nov. 2.

At that time each congregation or each missionary society, according to its means, will be asked to support one or both of the projects presented. The projects follow: No. 1, scholarship for international inter-denominational students willing to work for Christ in all parts of the world, and No. 2, aid for the homeless in the form of a used clean, light blanket, knitted patches or pieces of wool sewed together.

Women of each church will receive details through the "prayer cells" of their congregation. All contributions or gifts will be taken to the First Christian church on or before November 2. The panel expects that a large number of contributions and blankets will be given for the worthy projects.

Methodists Enjoy Outing On Friday

Success crowned the efforts of the picnic committee of the Mahoning Methodist church Sunday school when the group's annual picnic climaxed their outstanding work on Friday evening at East Palestine park.

Many of the members motored to the beautiful park early in the afternoon in order to take a swim, but they found the atmosphere just a wee bit chilly. Others arriving later joined in a game period with various sponsored and supervised contests under way.

Henry Hamilton directed the various sporting events, which were enjoyed by the participants. Suitable prizes were given to those who emerged as victors in the races and guessing games. The members were invited to sit down to the bountiful tables at 6:45 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. O. G. Shindeldecker, offered grace after which the group did justice to the copious quantities of food.

Credit for the unusual success of the event goes to Dwight Miller, planner and arranger, along with his cooperative committee.

Playground Enters Final Activities

Kay Anderson and Pete Mancino, supervisors for the Mahoningtown recreation playgrounds, announced today that the playground is entering its final week for the season with just five more days of supervised play remaining before the opening of school.

On Monday, August 27, the playground staff and children will journey to Cascade park where a gala playground day picnic will be held with all the various city playmate groups uniting. A special program of interest to all has been planned for the day under the supervision of Rees Flannery, supervisor of the recreation bureau.

One of the most popular games this past season at the Mahoningtown playmate was tether ball. The children were busy most of the day playing the game. A contest was held earlier in the season.

The older boys and girls enjoyed the game of volleyball. The girls' team emerged victor in every game in the league. They have played all the other playgrounds in the city. This will make the third year the ward girls' group has won the city emblem of which they are justly proud.

Another of the group's favorite pastimes is painting statues and also plates. This work usually consumes an afternoon when once begun by a boy or girl. It shows the ingenuity of the youngsters who are very creative in their work.

The smaller children are not forgotten at the playground with jacks, ball, checkers and other games occupying their time.

All in all, a most outstanding season has been experienced at the play site in the ward and the youngsters are eagerly looking ahead to next year's summer vacation period.

Anyone interested is invited to fly over the area and observe the uses of the emergency code. This code is taken from the Pennsylvania Aeronautical chart and is now the standard code used nationally.

To Jump Again Chuck Mills will again jump from a plane piloted by Joseph Gargacz sometime during the afternoon. Tentative plans for more than one jumper have been made but as yet they are incomplete.

Midland's crack drill team will give an exhibition of the qualities that made them Pennsylvania State champions. Festivities will begin around 2 o'clock and CAP members will again man the refreshment stand.

Fifteen planes in addition to the planes of the New Castle Group and Squadron will participate in this operation, "Operation Surprise."

author in the Natural Caverns at Harlansburg, the two views on the left are slightly enlarged, although some specimens are larger than the drawings. The creature on the right shows one of the many forms taken by the crinoids. The head takes numerous shapes and the tentacles on top are often tightly clasped about the head.

From deep in the natural caverns at Harlansburg comes this unusual story on the background to our earth. Geologists who have visited the caves find the largest deposits of fossilized marine life found in caves anywhere in the United States.

Imbedded in the rock walls of the caverns and within view are the fossils of hundreds of thousands of crinoids or "stone lilies". Although resembling vegetable life in nature, the "stone lily" was actually animal life.

Formed back near the beginning of time when the separation between animal and vegetable life was a mere line, the fossils abound in the portion of the earth's crust commonly called "hard pan". This rock was formed about 300,000,000 years ago, during that period of geological time referred to as the Carboniferous Age. It was then that coal was formed in Pennsylvania.

Crinoids grew fast and thick upon the wide, shallow sea bottoms that flooded this area. The crinoids are related to the modern starfishes and sea urchins and are often called "sea lilies" because they so closely resemble a flower in appearance.

The animal consisted of roots, the stem and a head. The soft body lived within the cuplike head and around its rim was a circle of feathery tentacles. The head was made up of many odd-shaped plates. The stems were hollow and consisted of a series of jointed discs. Some varieties had no stems and the head rested on the sea bed. Others are believed to have had stems 70 feet long.

The crinoids had their start in

Army Depot Under Special Scrutiny

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 18.—(INS)—Col. S. W. McIlwain, commanding officer of the Rosford Army Depot, reported today that a special investigation of the Rosford Army Depot by the Inspector General's Office is underway.

Col. McIlwain said the inspector arrived yesterday and already has begun to look into the reported evidence of irregular conduct on the part of some procurement officials.

He said the inspector will confine his investigation to the charges made by Representative Porter Hardy, Jr., (D-Va.) and other members of a House expenditures subcommittee.

The colonel added that he "welcomes the investigation although so far I haven't been able to find anything of the nature that needs cleaning up."

Col. McIlwain also revealed that three representatives of the Inspector General's Office have been making a general inspection of the Rosford Depot the past week but said this investigation "is a routine one that is made every year" and was planned some months ago.

He reiterated that he had no knowledge of any irregularities in the lettering of contracts at the depot in the six years he has been commanding officer and added that any that might be uncovered would be of a minor nature "and a result of the difficulty in keeping an eye on each one of the 6,000 persons working here."

Mystery Gas Causes Death Of Two Men

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 18.—(INS)—Baffled officials today sought the source of mysterious gas which caused the death of two men and sickened three others while working in a paper mill at nearby Eden last night.

It was the second unexplained industrial accident caused by escaping gas in Lancaster county yesterday.

Earlier, 18 Hamilton Watch Company workers were treated at St. Joseph hospital after being sickened by unidentified fumes.

Dr. Charles P. Stahr, deputy coroner, identified the dead as John L. Clare, 26, and Bruce Herner, 27, both of Lancaster. They had been employed for about six weeks at the paper mill, according to company officials.

Stahr said Irwin Stoner, 31, another employee, was overcome by the gas when he went to the rescue of Clare and Herner and had to be pulled from the waste water tank where the victims were working.

Two men who dragged Stoner from the tank also were made ill by the fumes.

News Survey Shows Support For Peace

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(INS)—The Defense department today saw overwhelming newspaper support developing behind the Truman administration's moves to secure peace in Korea, Japan and Germany.

A department survey of major newspapers across the country showed that none of those examined, except the Communist New York Daily Worker, is actively opposing any of the moves.

A number of newspapers qualified their approval.

The analysis noted that metropolitan dailies "continue to approve" General Ridgway's policies in the Kaesong armistice negotiations. It said the President's request for an end of the technical state of war in Germany is seen as an effort "to raise morale and link Germany more closely with the West."

Navigation is difficult on the rugged western coast of Korea because of tides which rise 20 to 36 feet.

Greek D.P. Will Place Famous Soil On Grave

NEW YORK, August 18.—(INS)—Maria Geroulis, 20, a displaced person from Tripolis, Greece, arrived at Idlewild airport today with an urn containing soil from the graves of the Greek heroes of Thermopylae. She is taking the urn to the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington.

Miss Geroulis, who came to this country under the sponsorship of the American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association, is the thousandth DP to be brought to this country by that organization.

She said she had dug the soil at Sparta, at the graves of King Leonidas and the 300 Spartan soldiers who stopped the invading Persians in 480 B. C. She carried the soil in a classical Greek urn, and intends to present it to President Truman in Washington Aug. 30.

Somewhat to the horror of attractive brunette inspectors of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Dept. of Agriculture, insisted that all topsoil containing organic matter must be sterilized before entering the country. She said:

"The soil of Thermopylae has been sterilized by the blood of the heroes of the ages, and such sterilization is eternal."

But the practical inspectors sterilized the soil for 30 minutes under 20 pounds pressure, nonetheless, after removing it from the urn. Miss Geroulis who was clad in a traditional Greek gown, the clams, and wore a Queen Amalia Fez, said the urn dated from 660 B.C. and had been cemented together.

Polish Seamen Tell Of Russian Mines

LANDSKRONA, Sweden, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Twelve Polish seamen who mutinied and escaped to Sweden said today that Russia is engaged in mapping mine fields to be laid in the Baltic in event of a new war.

The Poles, who obtained temporary political asylum after sailing their minesweeper to Sweden Aug. 1, said that three naval cartographers were among the ship's crew.

The group also told newsmen that a Russian named Cherkov now heads the Polish navy and that 200 thousand Red army men have been posted on the eastern and Western frontiers of Poland.

The first law paper in the west, the Chicago Legal News, was founded by Myra Beardwell in 1868.

Rural Schools Ready For Term

County Schools Will Resume September 4

Lawrence County schools are getting ready for the opening of the school term on Tuesday, September 4. County Superintendent Roy F. Conway announced today and should get away to a good start.

Virtually all of the county schools are supplied with teachers, with the exception of a few vacancies in the music department, in the high schools, and a few in the elementary schools, which are expected to be filled by the time the schools open.

The enrollment last year was $491 and indications point to an increase in this figure, particularly in the lower grades.

Shenango township probably has the largest enrollment of any township, the enrollment last year standing at 1,184, with Union probably next with 1,082. Neshannock township has an enrollment of 565 in the first six grades, pupils in the upper six grades attending school in New Castle. This costs the school district a sum of around $50,000 annually, and it is likely that they will have to build a high school in the near future, as the enrollment keeps increasing.

The school calendar, as approved by the county school board is as follows:

School opening, Tuesday, September 4

Institute vacation, October 3, 4 and 5

Eighth grade examination, Wednesday, October 24

Thanksgiving vacation, November 22 and 23

Christmas vacation, December 23 to January 2

Good Friday vacation—April 11

High school entrance examination, Friday, May 23

School closes, Thursday, May 29

Some of the schools probably will not observe all these dates, and an emergency like last winter, when the record snow closed the

Reunion Held On Friday Eve

Thaddeus Stevens
Grads Meet At Park

Cascade park, which has been the scene of many pleasant gatherings for former Thaddeus Stevens pupils, in the past, again was the mecca for these oldsters, Friday evening, when the annual reunion of the school took place.

President Charles Marks was master of ceremonies and the invocation was given by Mother Marks, now nearing her 80th birthday, the oldest person present.

Around 200 were present for the enjoyable event, which started off with a picnic supper in the grove, followed by games and events, for which some nice prizes were given by the merchants.

Later in the evening, there was a program of entertainment in the community house, featuring Delance Cole and his cornhuskers, in old time hill-billy tunes and jokes.

Mrs. Mayne Bupp Crill, of Miami, Fla., was found to have come the farthest distance to attend, and was awarded a nice gift.

Prizes were also awarded for the largest family, and youngest person present.

Members voted the event a huge success, and are looking forward to next year's reunion with anticipation of further communion with the companions of their childhood.

The National Geographic society says the New England sturgeon catch fell from 29,000 to 5000 pounds between 1919 and 1935.

Literary punctuation has developed out of a system of Aldus Manutius, an Italian scholar and printer, who died in the sixteenth century.

NEW WILMINGTON

VACATIONERS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitzer and son Bobby, New Castle street, New Wilmington, chose New York and Vermont for their vacation trip this year. They returned home the earlier part of this week. Niagara Falls was the first stop on their trip, where they reported the crowds as being exceptionally large due to the fact that it was the day the most recent daredevil had chosen to attempt the trip over the falls.

Other places of interest visited included Rochester, where they called on a family which had formerly lived in New Wilmington; Saranac Lake, Lake Placid, Santa's workshop at the North Pole, Albany, Syracuse, Ausable Caverns and many cities in Vermont.

HUTCHINSON REUNION

Members of the Hutchinson family assembled for their annual reunion at New Wilmington Community park Friday. Thirty-two answered the roll call and were all residents of New Wilmington and nearby towns. Following a picnic supper, election of officers was held with Carl Reed, Enon Valley, named as president, and Robert Thompson, Rt. 3, New Castle, as secretary-treasurer. No program of sports was planned the evening being spent in swimming and visiting.

ON CARRIER LEYTE

One of New Wilmington's veterans of the Korean campaign, Duane Johnston, USN, is cruising in Caribbean waters at the present time. He is a member of the crew of the US carrier Leyte.

After docking at Quonset Point, R. I., following his return from overseas, the men saw duty on board the Tarawa, a carrier which had been in mothballs. After a brief period of service, they were reassigned to the Leyte and sent to Sanford, Fla., their present base. At the time Johnston wrote his last letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Johnston, he was in port at Guantanamo, Cuba.

NEW WILMINGTON NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Mick and children spent Saturday with relatives in Zelienople.

Mrs. Zita Hanford has returned to her home after spending a six-week vacation in New Mexico. One of the most interesting spots visited were the Carlsbad Caverns.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ewalt, New Castle street, spent their vacation at the home of a son, a resident of Kentucky.

Mrs. W. B. Boies, East Palestine, O., is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Chapin, New Castle street, where she is recuperating from illness. She is a sister of Mr. Chapin.

Potato Growing Industry Needs Digger-Harvester

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Agriculture engineers said today the greatest single machinery need of potato growers, from the standpoint of cost reduction, is a harvester that will handle the tubers from the ground to field container.

Engineers want a machine that will dig the potatoes, lift them from the ground, separate them from loose dirt, stones, weeds, and the vines, and place them in special self-unloading trucks or in handling containers, all with a minimum of bruising and skinning.

Another current trend is toward the design of a windrow harvester that will follow the digger and pick up the potatoes from a windrow.

Engineers think that ultimately these two lines of research may result in a harvester that will serve as a two-row windrow picker-up machine or be convertible to a one-row direct digger-harvester.

They say vine elimination is one of the problems that must be ironed out by research before a satisfactory harvester is developed.

Work is going forward to develop a device that will pull the vines before harvest so that potatoes will mature faster—and also cut the vines in short lengths to minimize the vine nuisance at harvest time.

If such a machine can be perfected, it would eliminate the need for a de-viner in the final harvester.

The Agriculture Department has predicted a 1951 commercial apple crop of 121.3 million bushels, about the same as last year.

Summer varieties are forecast at about one third more than 1950. Fall types, at 17,292,000 bushels are about 18 per cent above last year's crop. Jonathan, the most important fall variety, has good prospects in all areas and particularly in the north central states.

Winter varieties are down 6 per cent from last year's good crop but 13 percent above average. Delicious production is down about a third from last year. Prospects for this most important variety are very good in all sections, except the northwest. Production there is indicated at about half of 1950.

McIntosh, the second most important wintertype, is forecast at about the same as last year, but 37 per cent above the average production.

Car And Truck Output Reaches Highest Level

DETROIT, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday that car and truck production in the United States increased 29 per cent this week returning output to the highest production plateau reached in July.

Ward's said this week's increase, resulting from resumption of production by many General Motors plants, returned output to more normal NPA curtailment levels.

In U. S. auto plants this week, Ward's said, 95,507 cars and 25,559 trucks were built for a total of 123,066. In the same week last year the industry turned out 73,551 cars and 21,509 truck for a total of 95,060.

Ward's said labor-interrupted output was at a minimum this week with only walkouts at Mercury plants at Mettchen and St. Louis Thursday marring an otherwise peaceful labor front.

A survey of new car sales, Ward's said, shows that dealer deliveries to customers continued to crowd production in July. Sales for General Motors and Ford Divisions ranged close to or exceeded production in that month.

Stays Execution Set For Monday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black Friday stayed the execution set for Monday of convicted kidnap-murderers Turman G. Wilson and Utah E. Wilson of Clark county, Wash.

The delay extends until the Supreme court acts on a petition for a review of the Wilsons' conviction which will not be until after the fall session opens October 1.

The papers filed with the court gave no details on the facts in the case except to say that the two men were convicted on kidnapping and murder charges in Clark county and sentenced to die Monday.

Their attorneys said their conviction was based solely on circumstantial evidence and that they were denied due process of law as guaranteed in the constitution.

Secret Engines May Get U.S. Look

LONDON—American Air Force technical experts reportedly have been invited to examine Britain's top-flight secret engine designs while they are still on the drawing board.

London newspaper reports say the U. S. is anxious to build a new super standard fighter which would be suitable for combat either in the Far East or Europe. If necessary, the reports say, arrangements would be made to use British designs to be built under license in America.

Already licenses to build the Armstrong-Siddeley Sapphire and the British Olympus have been granted to America and the new Rolls Royce Avon jet engine is held on option.

American technical experts are visiting most of the more important British factories, examining secret development work. But, it is reported, they are not showing any interest in any of Britain's present jet fighters because they are rapidly being outmoded.

Even the much-vaunted semi-secret jets with swept-back wings are not considered sufficiently advanced to interest the American experts.

Particular attention is being focused on British jet engines in the course of development. The Americans are also reported particularly interested in British experiments of trying to overcome the disadvantage of the very heavy fuel consumption which is restricting the operating range of jet fighters.

The national capitol in Washington is the only building in the United States over which the Stars and Stripes are officially flown continuously.

TO A COURAGEOUS LEGISLATURE WE EXPRESS OUR APPRECIATION

The Robinson-Dent Bill has been passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature. If and when it is signed by Governor John S. Fine it will adjust truck weight limits in Pennsylvania, increase penalties for overloading and give every trucking company in the state an opportunity to compete with these of adjoining states on something like an even basis.

The bill was not easy of passage. Powerful interests, for selfish and ulterior, reasons opposed it, but we have always believed that, given the facts, our legislators would do justice.

To this courageous Legislature of 1951 we express our appreciation. The bill is an honest bill, a workable bill, a bill that the trucking industry considers just.

Indians Meet Erie Sailors Here Sunday; Yanks-Tribe Tied For Lead

Final Series For Erie Tars Here; New Castle Loses At Falls, 1-0

The New Castle Indians will return to Flaherty Field Sunday, from their final road trip to Erie and Niagara Falls, to battle the league leading Erie Sailors, in an important series of three games.

The Sunday game will start at 2:30 o'clock. The Monday and Tuesday games at 7:30 o'clock.

De Or-Die Series
Three defeats here will just about knock Erie out of the second-half title in the league race. The Erie team having defeated Butler last night, on top of the Niagara 1-0 win over New Castle keeps them in the lead by a half-game.

Niagara Falls will be idle the next three days having been carded with the defunct Oil City team. Butler will play at Lockport.

New Castle is six and a half games off the top now and are practically out of race, but can prove spoilers by whipping Erie in three straight here.

Walt Howalski Hitting .385
Paul Klaffier will work at Niagara Falls tonight with Bill Ciske slated to face Erie here Sunday. Ciske lost a tough one at Erie Tuesday night, hurling a six-hitter.

Indian averages including the August 16 game, shows Walt Kowalski leading the hitters with a smashing .385 average, and in almost every other department Kowalski has a big lead, in runs, hits, home runs and RBIs.

New Castle's other 300 hitters are—Manager Al Milnar .356, Bill Green .327, and Joey Frisina .318.

New Castle will have two old familiar faces in the lineup here Sunday, the famous Rudy York and Charley Harg, both formerly with Youngstown and Oil City.

Error Proves Costly
Niagara Falls, Aug. 18.—South-paw Ed Smrekar kept the Falls Citizens in pursuit of the league-leading Erie Sailors tonight by hurling a spectacular one-hit 1-0 shutout over the fourth place New Castle Indians last night before 397 fans.

Third sacker Joe Urso proved to be the "spoiler" with his blip single into short left-center with two out in the seventh frame being the only baseknock off Smrekar. It was his ninth win against seven losses.

Geer Pitches Well
It was a heart-breaking defeat for right-hander Ken Geer who gave up but five hits for New Castle. The winning run was unearned. In the first inning, Al Whitsel laced a single to left-center and moved to third on Lou Ciccone's single to right-center. Sam Depero bounced to short and the throw home was in time but catcher Bernie Sakanich dropped the ball as Whitsel slid in with the only run of the game.

New Castle muffed its big scoring chance in the eighth when an error and two walks loaded the bases with none away. Kowalski bounced to third and Tony Franc forced Geer at home plate. Rudy York then bounced to Franc at York who tagged third and threw to first for an inning-ending double play.

Golfers Plan For Championship Play

Championship tournament of lady golfers of the New Castle Country club will begin Tuesday, August 21, with play starting at 9 a.m. and continuing until 3 p.m. The tournament will draw to a close on Friday.

An enjoyable day of golfing was held by the ladies Thursday at the Country club, with winners for the 18-hole tournament being Mrs. Gross, Mrs. Don Eckles and Mrs. William Horner, for first, second and third places respectively.

For the nine-hole contest Mrs. Gross Washbaugh was the first place winner, Mrs. Lester Johns and Mrs. Al Knecht tied for second place and Mrs. Thomas Blair and Mrs. William Young were tied for third place.

"Best 9 out of 18" and "best five out of nine" will be the featured tournaments when the ladies gather next Thursday for their regular golfing session.

Tuscano Records Third Playoff Win Over Former Champs

Ross-Morelli is the new city softball champion.

Tony Tuscano added a shutout, his third series win the won them all, and his sixth consecutive victory over the Teamsters to his already brilliant season's record, in the deciding game last night at Gaston Park. The R-M's were 2-0 winners.

More than 1500 crowded the park, and watched the winning run cross the plate as early as the third inning. Litrenta walked, moved up on Tuscano's sacrifice, and scored on Caiazza's single.

The new champs scored an unnecessary run in the fourth when DeVitto doubled, went to third on Conti's sacrifice, and scored on Cioppa's long fly.

Loser Joe Embroski fanned 14-batters.

Manager Gabby DeCaprio's decision to use Tuscano exclusively, proved sound. The fireballer allowed the Teamsters only one run and 12 hits in three games. He also stopped Bossert twice, in their post season bid for the title.

HERE and THERE • • • IN SPORTS LAND

NEW YORK CITY'S chief medical examiner came out swinging today with a hard-hitting defense of boxing and figures to prove that baseball has killed more people than any other sport in the city since 1918, according to Jack Geiger of the I.N.S.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales said baseball accounted for 43 deaths, football 22 and boxing 21 in the 32-year-period ended in 1950. The medical examiner's records showed seven deaths for basketball players, three in handball, two each in wrestling and soccer and one apiece in cricket, golf, polo and relay races.

His report in the current journal of the American Medical Association noted that baseball injuries—although they caused as many deaths as boxing and football combined—have received little public attention.

The thorough medical investigations accompanying boxing deaths, on the other hand, were attributed to "the suspicion of a willful attempt to seriously injure an opponent."

The AMA report noted that there was only one major league baseball fatality in the city in the 32 years and all the other deaths involved semi-professional or amateur players.

Dr. Gonzales said a throw or hit ball was responsible for death in most instances. A few were injured in collisions between players, in falls or when sliding into a base.

Brain hemorrhages caused 25 of the deaths, infections 16, and a blood clot one. One player died on the field after being hit on the chest by a batted ball.

In a comment on the boxing deaths, Dr. Gonzales attacked critics who call for abolition of the sport because it is too dangerous. He said: "Thirty-two years of boxing competitions have produced fewer deaths in proportion to the number of participants than occur in baseball or football and far fewer deaths than result daily from accidents."

"From these facts it can be seen that the moral and physical benefits derived from boxing far outweigh the dangers inherent in it or any other competitive sport."

RE-EXAMINATION of Joe Louis' chances of regaining the world heavy championship seems to indicate the strong likelihood he will never make it. Maybe the promoters are trying to get him knocked off.

No one, but no one, could possibly take seriously the assortment of fighters he has been beating on his comeback campaign. But this may be slightly changed if efforts to give him an October fight with Rocky Marciano prove successful, according to Lawton Carver of the I.N.S.

Marciano might while the stuffings right out of this hunk of antique bric-a-brac who so persistently trundles about pursuing that will-o'-the-wisp of a long-gone youth.

When it's gone, you ain't got it—youth, that is. There is no substitute for that wonderful clear-eyed, untiring resilience that makes a man go free-wheeling to where the fighting is and come back with a triumph.

There is nothing that will make your legs springy and your reflexes fast and your body immune to fatigue, except being young.

Louis, going on 28, has just the right quantity of same. He's neither too young nor too old. He's just the kind of a rough, tough, body-banging, enthusiastic young gander who might bring the present Louis down—down and out.

Louis' own outfit, the International Boxing Club, conceivably is trying by this time to get him knocked off for purposes of getting publicity for the man who does it. Who would fit better into this picture than Marciano?

Whether Marciano is a great fighter is not important now. The opposition is as bad or worse than he. However, his manager of record is the step-son of Al Weill, the Garden match-maker. If anybody is going to knock Louis off it should be Marciano.

The Garden knows Louis is on his last legs and knows equally well that Weill's fighter, Marciano, can be built up. Simple, isn't it?

With all this in mind, Jim Norris, the IBC head, is pressing all points to bring about a Louis-Marciano meeting at the earliest possible time. He hopes it will be in October.

If you want a long-distance guess on probable outcome on any such meeting, I'd say that Marciano probably will win.

Tate Performs Well; Browns Trounce College All-Stars 33-0

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—(INS)—The mighty Cleveland Browns have proved once again that a good professional football team should—and usually does—beat the best of the college squads.

The Browns showed no mercy last night as they trounced a gallant but heavily-outclassed college all-star eleven 33 to 0 in the 18th annual classic at Chicago's Soldier Field.

Tate Performs Well
New Castle's Al Tate got into the game as a defensive guard in the second half and played a very fine game. He recovered a Brown fumble near the All-Star's goal line to save his team from having another score against it and was in on a good number of tackles while he was in the game.

The Browns were even better than the top-sided score indicated. They were so good, in fact, that they made the game seem almost a routine exhibition of professional skill for the edification of a willing but almost helpless amateur.

Consequently, there were few thrills for the 92,180 fans.

Graham To Lavelli
With passes thrown by the great Otto Graham—usually to Dante Lavelli—the Browns thinned the college defenses. Then William "Dub" Jones, Marion Motley and Emerson Cole slammed through the line to roll up heavy ground gains.

It was a one-two technique which netted the pros a record 20 first downs to only five for the All-Stars.

The Browns' victory gave the professionals 10 wins, against six losses in the annual classic.

They rolled up a total of 293 yards to the All-Stars' 43.

But the collegians could take comfort in one fact—the 1949 All-Stars took a worse trouncing. They lost to the Philadelphia Eagles, 38 to 0.

Chicago—Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns sneared an All-Star runner after a only a four yard gain in the third quarter of the annual game here between the championship pro team and the college All-Stars. The Pros, this year the Cleveland Browns, won 33-0.

Moose Defeat Fourth Ward 4-1 In Opening Contest Of Series

Moose team of Ellwood City defeated the Fourth Ward of New Castle 4-1 Friday evening before an estimated crowd of 1,000 at Little League field in the first game of their three-game series.

Bob Mallory of the Moose set down the New Castle representatives without a hit as his mates scored three in the eighth inning of the scheduled six inning tilt to win the game.

Mallory was responsible for sending the game into extra innings when he clubbed a home run over the fence in the fourth inning to tie the game at 1-1.

Long Hurlis Well
Bob Long did the hurling for the Fourth Ward and pitched very fine ball, though losing. Mallory struck out 14, Long 12.

In addition to his home run, and no-hit pitching, Mallory also had a double. New Castle scored its lone tally in the second inning on two walks, a stolen base and an error. Joe Foster scored the run.

Second game of the series will be played Monday evening at Little League field at 6 o'clock. Third game, if necessary, will be played Wednesday evening.

COUNTY LEAGUE HOLLERS
Officials of the Lawrence county Little League protest that the current series between the Ellwood City Moose team and the Fourth Ward team cannot be for the county championship, since the members of their league are also in the county.

The County Little League is composed of Union, Wampum, Bessemer, Walmo and New Wilmington. Their league season will end next week, it is announced.

If any county championship is to be decided, the County League would at least like an opportunity to take part, it is announced.

Seventy-two football hopefuls, including only nine lettermen, reported at Taggart stadium Friday night for the first meeting of the New Castle High School football squad.

First practice session was held this morning at the stadium at 9 o'clock. Practice sessions will also be held Monday and Tuesday, both morning and afternoon, at the stadium, with the squad leaving the stadium for two weeks the camp Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

Lettermen back from last year's squad are:

Guy Amodei, Bill Boak, Lucas Fiorante, Wilbur Focht, Chuck Mangino, Fred McLean, Sam Medure and Bob Shellogg. Mitchell Charles, a veteran of the 1949 team, is back from the service and is eligible to play.

Angelo To Meet Ruffy At Ellwood
Monday night in Ellwood City Angelo Poffo and Ruffy Silverstein will meet in the main bout of a Dapper Dan mat show and Friday night next, Silverstein will be at Flaherty field where he will tackle Francois Miquet who, while a light-heavyweight, captured the championship of France. They're rocketed to wrestle 60 minutes, or to a fall here.

In fact, the local card abounds with TV performers, and indications are the show will draw a vast number of fans.

On the docks are Cora Combs vs. Sam Bennett in a 30-minute semi-final, and a Tag bout between such well knowns as Farmer Marlin and Paulo Cordova vs. Jules LaRence and Ali Pasha.

Indians Drop Two
That was all the Yankees needed, for the suddenly tail-spinning Indians lost a doubleheader to Chicago, 7 to 1 and 8 to 3.

Not even Bob Feller could help the Indians yesterday. He failed in his bid for his 20th victory as he absorbed the opening loss.

In other American League contests, Fred Hatfield socked a three-run homer in the 12th to give Boston a 7 to 4 win over Washington, while Detroit edged the Browns, 5 to 4.

Dodgers-Braves Split
The National League's pacesetter Brooklyn Dodgers broke a three-game losing streak by taking the first half of a two-night doubleheader from Boston, 3 to 1, on Carl Erskine's three-hit pitching. But the Braves won the nightcap, 4 to 3.

Gil Hodges smashed his 34th homer in the opener.

Giants Extend Streak
The New York Giants ran their winning streak to seven in a row when they wallpapered the Philadelphia Phils, 8 to 0.

Stan Musial's 28th homer came at the strategic moment—in the ninth inning at Cincinnati as the St. Louis Cardinals' Max Lanier bested the Reds' Herm Wehmeier, 2 to 1.

Pittsburgh crushed the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 3.

In the United States, the rising sun hits the top of Mt. Katahdin in Maine before any other spot.

So far, Wampum has won two, lost one, and tied one.

It is anticipated that several thousand people will see the game.

The scores to date with winning and losing pitchers are as follows:
Wampum 6, Elliotts 1, Book and Rainey.
Wampum 5, Elliotts 3, Moore and Frank.
Elliotts 5, Wampum 4, Rainey and Book.

The fourth game was a scoreless tie.

The teams are composed of players as follows:
Wampum: Semansky, Moore, Palagallo, McCready, Brown, Vance, Hijaek, Powell, Mills, Badger and Hairhogger.
Elliotts: Buccione, Hutnick, DeSimone, Orlando, Sansone, Barbato, Perretta, Rainey, Masters, Scaglione, Frank and Razzano.

Joe Bedenk, Penn State baseball coach, thinks major league clubs may eventually add "teach-ers" to assist managers in daily instruction. Fundamentals, he pointed out, are too often neglected in the minor leagues.

Judiciary To Meet Tuesday

Justices, Aldermen Will Hear Ross

Members of the Lawrence County Minor Judiciary will meet in the court house Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the law library when they will be addressed by county parole officer Charles D. Ross.

Reports on the state magistrates convention, which was held at Allentown last week, will be given by Margaret M. Orres, secretary of the county association, and president J. Francis Boak.

Plans will be discussed for holding another school for members of the minor judiciary this fall and winter, when civil law will be studied.

NON-SUPPORT COURT

Judge John G. Lamoree presided at a session of non-support court Thursday when the marital woes of husbands who have failed to support their wives and minor children were disposed of.

DIVORCE ACTIONS PENDING

Indications point to the fact that there will be a bumper crop of divorce actions for the court to hear at the September session. Since June 1 a total of 53 libels in divorce have been filed, 16 so far in the month of August, an average of one a day for the month to date, 12 in July and 24 in June.

During the first six months of the year, 10 less actions were filed than in the same period in 1950. The number for the first six months this year has been 93. During the same period last year there were 103.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Judge W. Walter Graham granted a divorce in the case of Howard Arthur Kilbreath vs. Stella Mae Kilbreath, in which indignities were charged.

Industry Must Have Strong Leadership

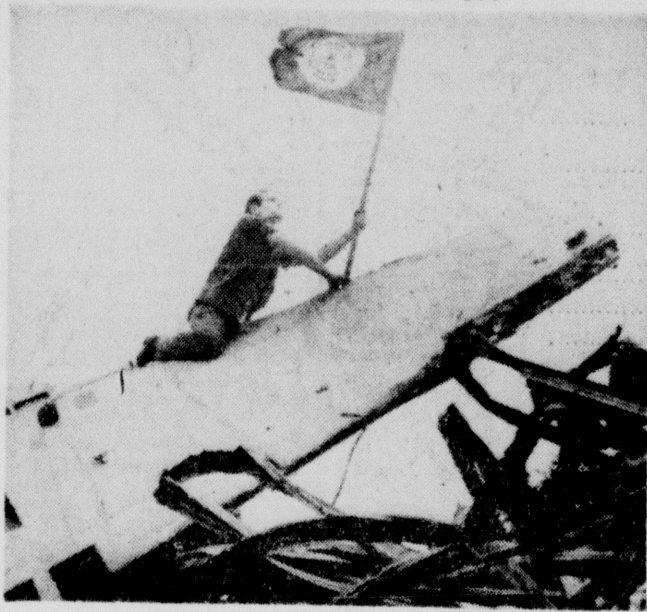

CAUX SUR MONTREUX, Switzerland, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Rudolf Von Scholtz of Munich told the Moral rearmament conference Friday the movement's significance is that "it enables workers and leaders to choose a revolution of the spirit rather than of force."

"Wherever the spark of revolution flares in our factories," he told the assembly, "We in management are responsible for we all know there's enough cause for revolution."

An Italian industrialist, Dr. Giuseppe Sigurta, of Milan, said: "When a boss changes first the workers will respond and change. We must enlist leadership in industry in building this new world."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

When Danny Kaye made a great hit in James Thurber's "Walter Mitty," producer Sam Goldwyn thought he'd like to have Thurber as a permanent addition to his writing stable. The catch lay in the fact that Thurber was working very happily for Magazine Editor Harold Ross and had no desire whatever to dally further with picture making.

"I'll pay you five hundred dollars a week," wrote Goldwyn. "Sorry," answered Thurber after some delay, "but Mr. Ross has met the increase." Goldwyn thereupon raised the ante to a thousand, then fifteen hundred, and finally twenty-five hundred a week, but each time got nothing for his pains but the courteous response, "Mr. Ross has met the increase."

There followed a long interim of silence. Then one day Mr. Goldwyn wrote again. This time, for some unknown reason, his offer went down to fifteen hundred. Thurber wrote back, "I'm sorry, but Mr. Ross has met the decrease."

The custom of presenting the keys of a city goes back to medieval times when every fortified town in Europe was surrounded by walls and people could enter only through gates. Surrender of the gates indicated giving over of the city.

Mahoning Twp. Firemen Have Practice Drill

Members of the Mahoning Township Volunteer Fire Department had a practice drill Friday evening, under the direction of Chief Henry Nofsker.

Instruction was given in the use of the new fog nozzle and in getting accustomed to the use of smoke masks. A building was filled with smoke and the firemen donned the masks and entered the building.

There was a good attendance of the members of the department and the drill proved most beneficial.
